From Principal's Desk

Dr. Ketan V. Shah

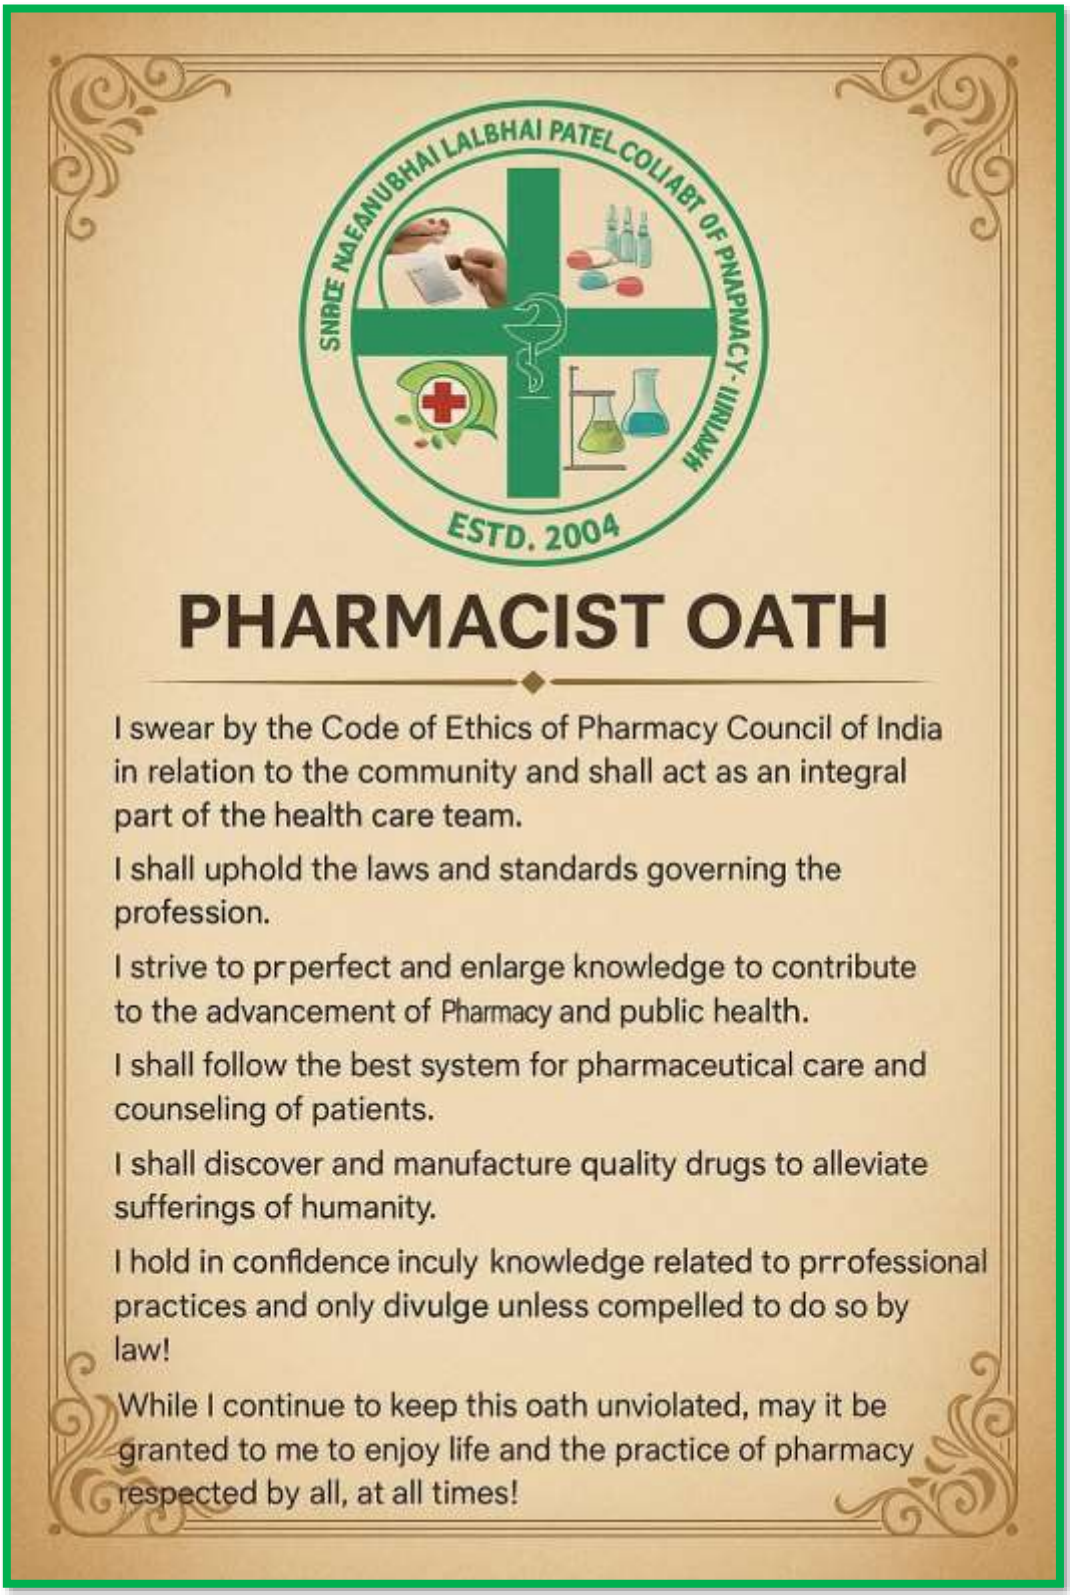

An essential component of society's overall development is education. There is little doubt that education plays a function beyond simply imparting and absorbing theory and knowledge. The real purpose of education goes much beyond merely giving students diplomas and degrees. "By education I mean an all-round drawing out of the best in child and man-body, mind and spirit," as Mahatma Gandhi once stated. The ultimate aim of education is to find the meaning of life and to fulfill oneself, as well as all of humanity. Knowledge, humanity, culture, wisdom, and sharpness are the goals of education; yet, it should be remembered that character is developed rather than given, and knowledge must be earned.

Shree Naranjibhai Lalbhai Patel College assists in the development of a student's personality, extracurricular activities, and overall worldview in addition to its theoretical education. We have all the qualities of a top-notch institution: a well-trained faculty, an extensive library, a placement office, innovative teaching strategies, and freedom to think and express oneself. The goal of higher education in rural areas is linked to employment because it guarantees a good attitude to view the world from a better perspective and to evaluate, identify, and apply a person's ideas in a way that contributes to the positive development of society. I genuinely think that there is more to our college than just education. It offers you an opportunity to develop by providing you with all the tools you need to succeed.

It is a matter of great pride and satisfaction for SNLPCP to bring out the magazine PHARMVIDYA. The college has made tremendous progress in all areas- academic, non- academics, capacity building relevant to staff and students. The College has achieved another milestone in getting NBA (National Board of Accreditation). I am confident that this issue of PHARMVIDYA will send a positive signal to the staff, students and the person who are interested in the technical education and Technology based activities. A magazine is like a mirror which reflects the clear picture of all sorts of activities undertaken by a department and develops writing skills among students in particular and teaching faculty in general. I congratulate the Editorial Board of this magazine who have played wonderful role in accomplishing the task in Record time.1

Abstract
A sensitive, accurate, robust, and precise analytical quality by design (AQbD)-based RP-HPLC (reverse-phase high-performance liquid chromatography) method has been developed for the simultaneous estimation of perindopril erbumine and moxonidine hydrochloride, both used in hypertension treatment. Initially, a three-level factorial design screened various parameters impacting chromatographic responses, followed by Central Composite Design (CCD) for optimizing the critical parameters. This cost-effective isocratic method employed a Shimpack ODS C_{18} column (250 mm × 4.6 mm, 5 µm) as the stationary phase. The method, developed and validated in line with ICH Q2 (R1) guidelines, utilized a mobile phase comprising methanol: acetonitrile: phosphate buffer (34:30:36 v/v/v) adjusted to pH 3.5 with 1% ortho phosphoric acid, at a flow rate of 1.0 mL/min, a column temperature of 40 °C, and UV detection at 214 nm, achieving efficient separation of both drugs. Linearity ranges were 25–125 µg/mL for perindopril erbumine ($r^2 = 0.9996$) and 1–5 µg/mL for moxonidine hydrochloride ($r^2 = 0.9993$). This newly developed RP-HPLC method effectively enables routine quantitative and simultaneous qualitative analysis of these compounds in bulk and synthetic mixtures. Additionally, the method's greenness and environmental safety were evaluated using eco-analytical metrics (eco analytical scale, NEMI, GAPI, and AGREE), confirming its ecological capability.
